

IN THE CLAIMS

1. (cancelled)

2. (new) A golf club head comprising:

a primary body having a face portion, a crown portion, a sole portion, a hosel, a heel portion, and a toe portion; and said toe portion being chamfered between said crown portion and said sole portion such that the center of gravity of said primary body is closer to a shaft axis of said primary body.

3. (new) A golf club head comprising:

a primary body having a face portion, a crown portion, a sole portion, a hosel, a heel portion, and a toe portion; and said toe portion having an opening formed therein.

4. (new) A golf club head according to claim 3, said toe portion has a ledge disposed around a periphery of said opening extending toward the center of said opening, and a toe cover component coupled to said ledge covering said opening.

5. (new) A golf club head according to claim 4, said toe cover component is comprised of a composite material.